

Alpha Training and Hawthorn Farm
Missing Child Policy and Procedures

Date of authorisation:	August 2023
Author / Reviewer responsible:	DONNA REYNOLDS
Reviewed by:	MICHELLE HOWDLE
Last amended:	August 2022
Date of next review:	August 2024

Aims of this policy

- To ensure that robust procedures are in place to minimise the risk of a learner going missing from Alpha Training site at Hawthorn Farm.
- To establish safeguards so that a learners absence from the training site (or off-site activity) is quickly identified.
- To outline a procedure for staff to follow in the event of a learner being or going missing, including the notification of parents and outside agencies.

Hawthorn Farm - Location

Hawthorn Farm is set in twelve acres of woodland and fields and there are many places where a student could potentially go and hide. Prevention is key and all students must be accounted for when working in the outdoor vicinity and a staff member present at all times.

Police terminology: 'absent' and 'missing'

DEFINITION OF MISSING:

'Anyone whose whereabouts cannot be established and where the circumstances are out of character or the context suggests the person may be subject of crime or at risk of harm to themselves or another'.

DEFINITION OF ABSENT:

'A person not at a place where they are expected or required to be and there is no apparent risk'.

For more information and guidance from West Midlands police on missing and absent pupils please see website link:

<http://policeandschools.org.uk/>

Safeguarding

A missing child is a child at risk

If a learner is absent or missing, the Designated Senior Lead (DSL) should always be informed. The DSL is Michelle Howdle, Managing Director. An incident of a missing learner is an important safeguarding concern as a missing child is a child at risk. A learner may be lost by accident or may go missing deliberately (i.e. runaways), for example, due to bullying or abuse. A missing child may be drawn into dangerous situations, activities and even exploitation. Please refer to Alpha Training's safeguarding policy for more information.

Procedure for a learner absent/missing

When a learner is noted as absent from where they are supposed to be, the first priority will be to conduct a search of the area, particularly likely places the learner may be. Actions might include, but are not limited to, the following.

Alpha Training and Hawthorn Farm Missing Child Policy and Procedures

- If the learner attempts to run away, off site, attempts should be made to follow the learner from a safe distance and encourage them, in a non-threatening way to stay where they are.
- Consult other available staff and ask whether they know where the learner may be (they may have a legitimate and known reason to be absent).
- Check of email records.
- Seek guidance from the DSL, Michelle Howdle or, in their absence, Donna Reynolds (Deputy DSL), phoning them if they are off-site.
- Take a register to see whether any other learners are absent (may be significant if two friends are both absent).
- Search likely locations such as the horse stables, chicken coops etc.
- It may help the search if other learners remain in the classroom or located in a central place; this may also make more members of staff available.
- Contact the pupil's main school and their parents and explain the situation, ask whether they know where the learner is. (Do so calmly, remembering that they may panic or, alternatively, have collected the learner without notifying staff, in which case they need to be calmly reminded of protocol, ideally by the DSL.
- If the learner is found, the DSL should interview them calmly and investigate their whereabouts and whether they were at risk; the learners school and parents will be informed.
- If, after consulting all available staff, school, learners and parents/carers the learner is still absent, they should be considered missing and the police contacted.

When the learner is found

This procedure should be followed:

- all parties involved in the search should be notified (including parents, School staff, police);
- if possible, two members of staff should talk to the learner;
- remain calm and do not express shock, dismay, anger or any other strong emotions;
- remember that the learner may be unaware of the panic they have caused; alternatively, they may have been through a distressing experience and be in need of support (e.g. from staff, parents, independent listener or external agencies such as the NSPCC);
- the rest of the group are reassured by the staff;
- safety guidance is issued to the group to avoid a recurrence;
- the events should be recorded, particularly any residual concerns that may have some future relevance.

Contacting the police

If the learner remains missing, then the school should be informed immediately and a call should be made to the Police at this stage: failure to contact them may prove costly. The following information should be made available:

- the learners name, age and date of birth;
- an up-to-date photograph obtained from the school;
- a physical description: height, appearance, clothes, distinguishing features;
- any disability, learning difficulty or SEN;
- the learners home address and telephone number;
- any relevant context (e.g. comments made by the learner that may indicate state of mind/ whereabouts);
- any suspicion/evidence of crime or wrongdoing.

If the learner is found after the police have been notified, it is important to tell the police.